

Jason Ray Co-Founder and CEO Paperless Parts

Jason Ray is the Co-Founder and CEO of Paperless Parts, the platform for manufacturing that enables machine shops to quote faster, improve customer experience, and grow their business. Jason found his passion for manufacturing while serving in the United States Navy as a supply and logistics officer, where he led advanced manufacturing implementation. He saw the negative impacts associated with ineffective sourcing of short-run production components. When Jason left the Navy, he was determined to solve this critical problem that plagues manufacturing. Jason has a B.A. from Trinity College and MBA from Babson College.